Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Friday 10 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Dry at first on Saturday but becoming wet for most.

This Evening and Tonight:
Showers continuing in some areas this evening, particularly in more coastal parts of Merseyside, Lancashire and southern Cumbria. However, becoming widely dry overnight with clear spells, and a patchy frost developing inland. Turning cloudier and less cold by the morning. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Saturday:
Any early brightness will be short-lived, with overcast skies developing and periods of rain arriving by the end of the morning. Rain continuing at times through the afternoon. Becoming milder. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Remaining largely unsettled and cloudy with occasional periods of rain, but perhaps brighter on Tuesday. Breezy at times, with strong winds on Sunday night. Staying on the mild side throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.